CAREER OBJECTIVE

As a recent graduate with strong interests in computer and software development, I think that learning never ends, hence the requirement for my continual learning is non-negotiable. I consider myself to be an open-minded person who places a high value on teamwork, so I think that working with others who share my views and in a setting of high standards will help me broaden and deepen my knowledge base, enhance my technical and programming skills, and generally increase productivity. As a result, I eagerly anticipate continuing possibilities to develop my technical and professional skills in the best setting.

Career Experience

- Maintained code quality across multiple environments and ensured compliance with defined coding standards and best practices by collaborating with other leads and developers.
